

From legacy website to nonprofit operating system

How ALCH3MY rebuilt DRMI's digital foundation

BEFORE — LEGACY WEEBLY SITE

AFTER — CUSTOM DRMI PLATFORM

The old site carried the mission. It could not carry the operation.

DRMI had outgrown a platform built for pages—not connected workflows.

tions Ministries, Inc.

About DRMI

DRMI Geeks & Gramps (Grandparents) Program

more...

Log In | Register

About Divine Revelations Ministries, Inc.

Divine Revelations Ministries, Inc. (DRMI)

tions Ministries, Inc. (DRMI) started as a non-denominational outreach church ministry in 2004. After the official church was dissolved, direct services and community outreach DRMI volunteers continued feeding and clothing those in need, mentoring youth and adults, and courses in anger/emotional management skills. In 2014, DRMI incorporated as a 501c3 organization and now provides secular, faith-based and gender specific classes in anger management for court-ordered individuals, inmates and ex-offenders and court-mandated clients, school youth and the general public. In 2019, we introduced substance misuse classes to our program for inmates, returning citizens and the general public. DRMI still continues its original mission of feeding and clothing those in need.

What the legacy site revealed

01

Years of meaningful mission content

02

Navigation and content constrained by a template

03

No connected internal operating layer

Outgrowing the tool was evidence of growth—not failure.

We stopped asking, “How should the new website look?”

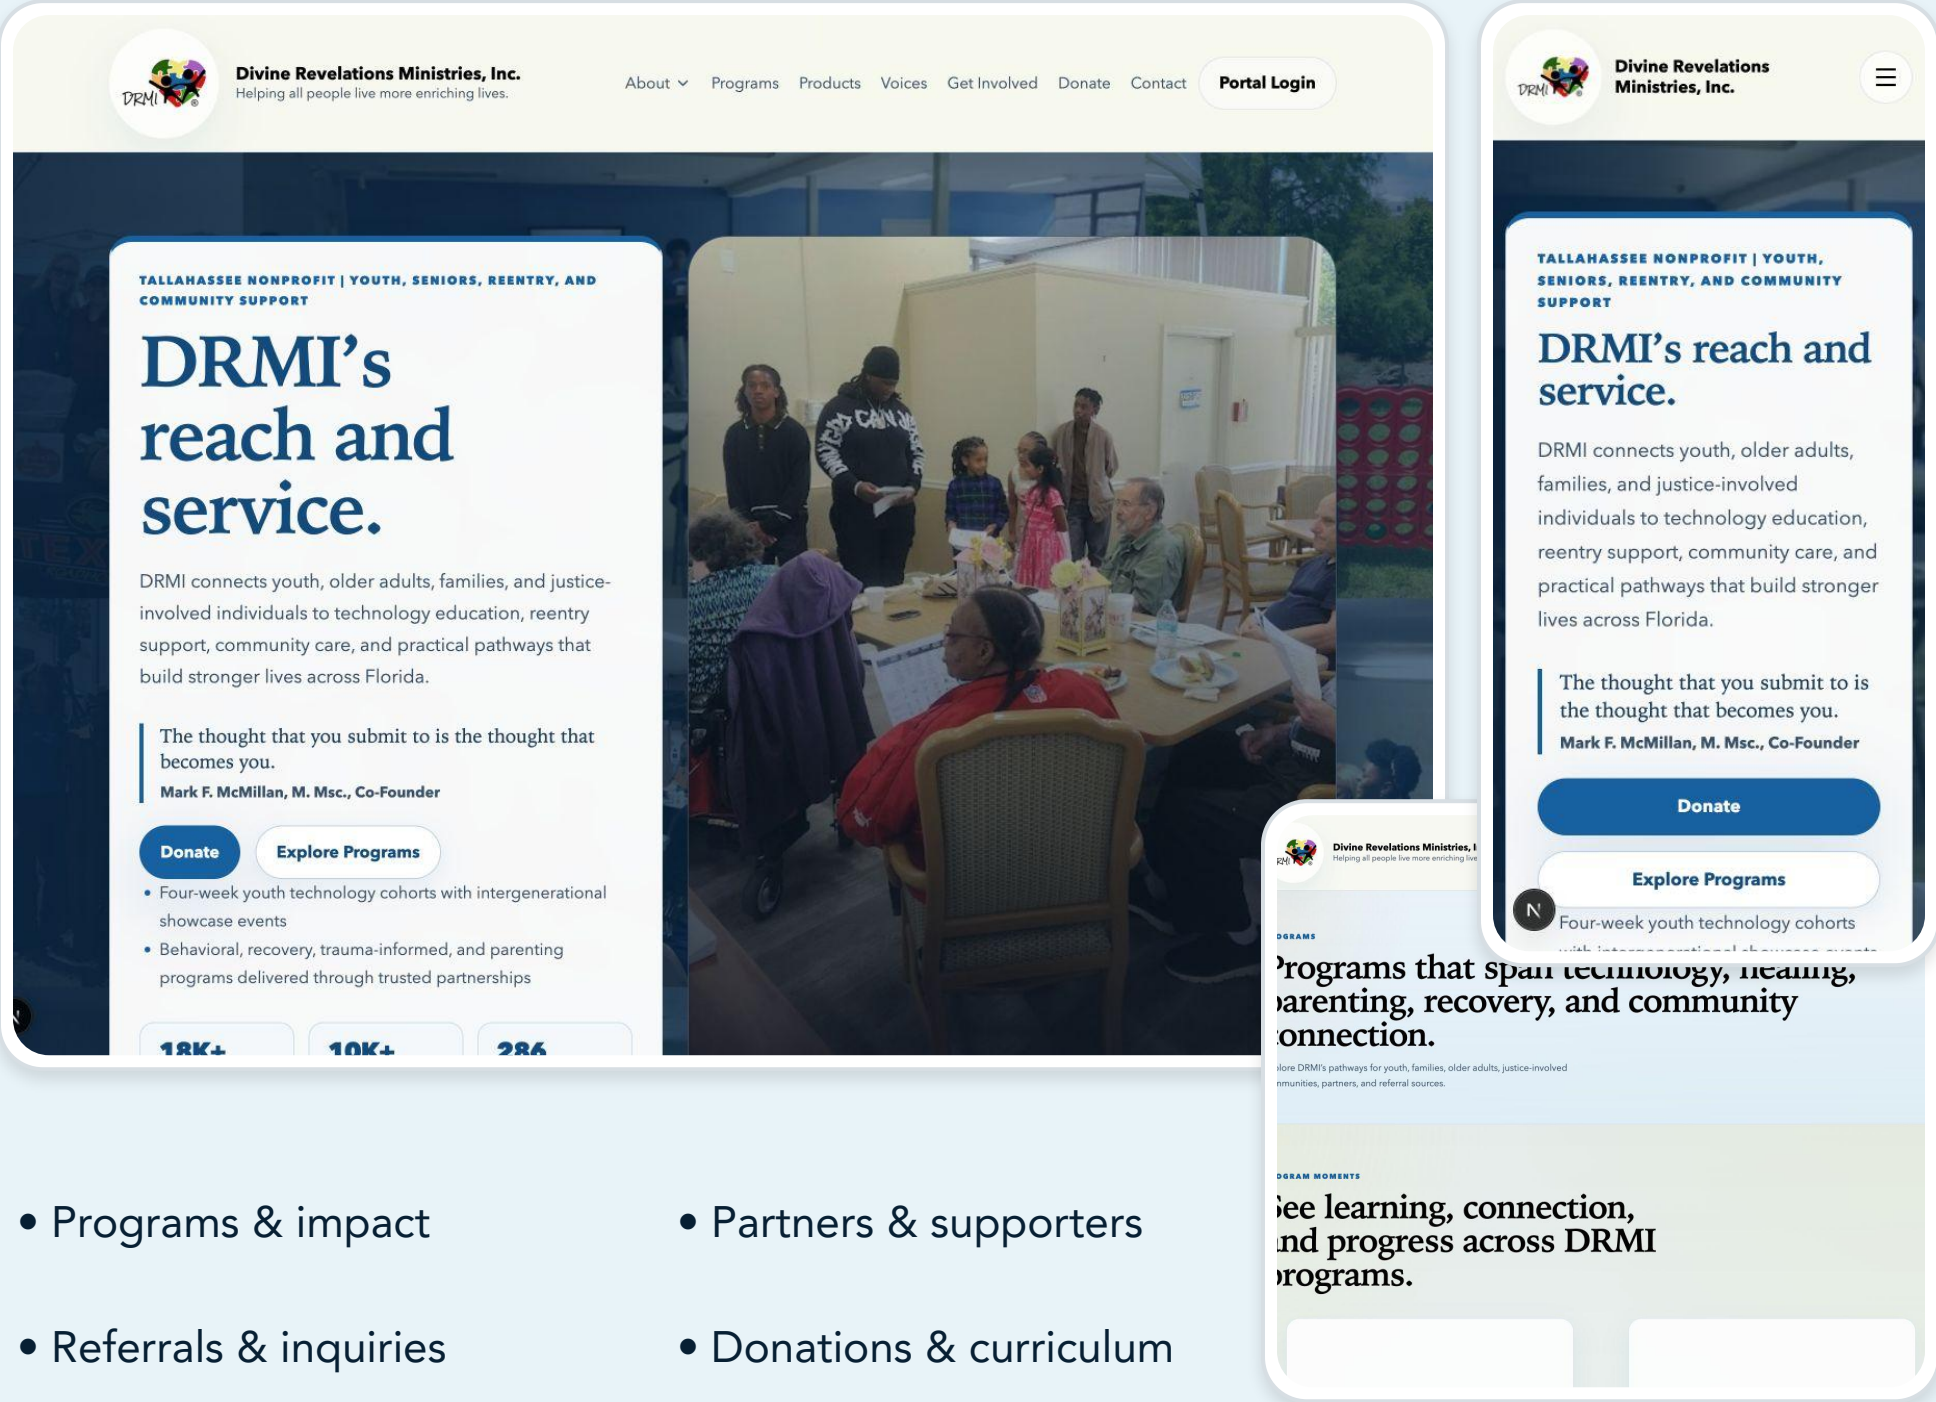

We started asking:

“What does DRMI need the entire system to do?”

The answer changed the scope—from a redesign to a purpose-built digital operating platform.

A clearer front door to DRMI's mission

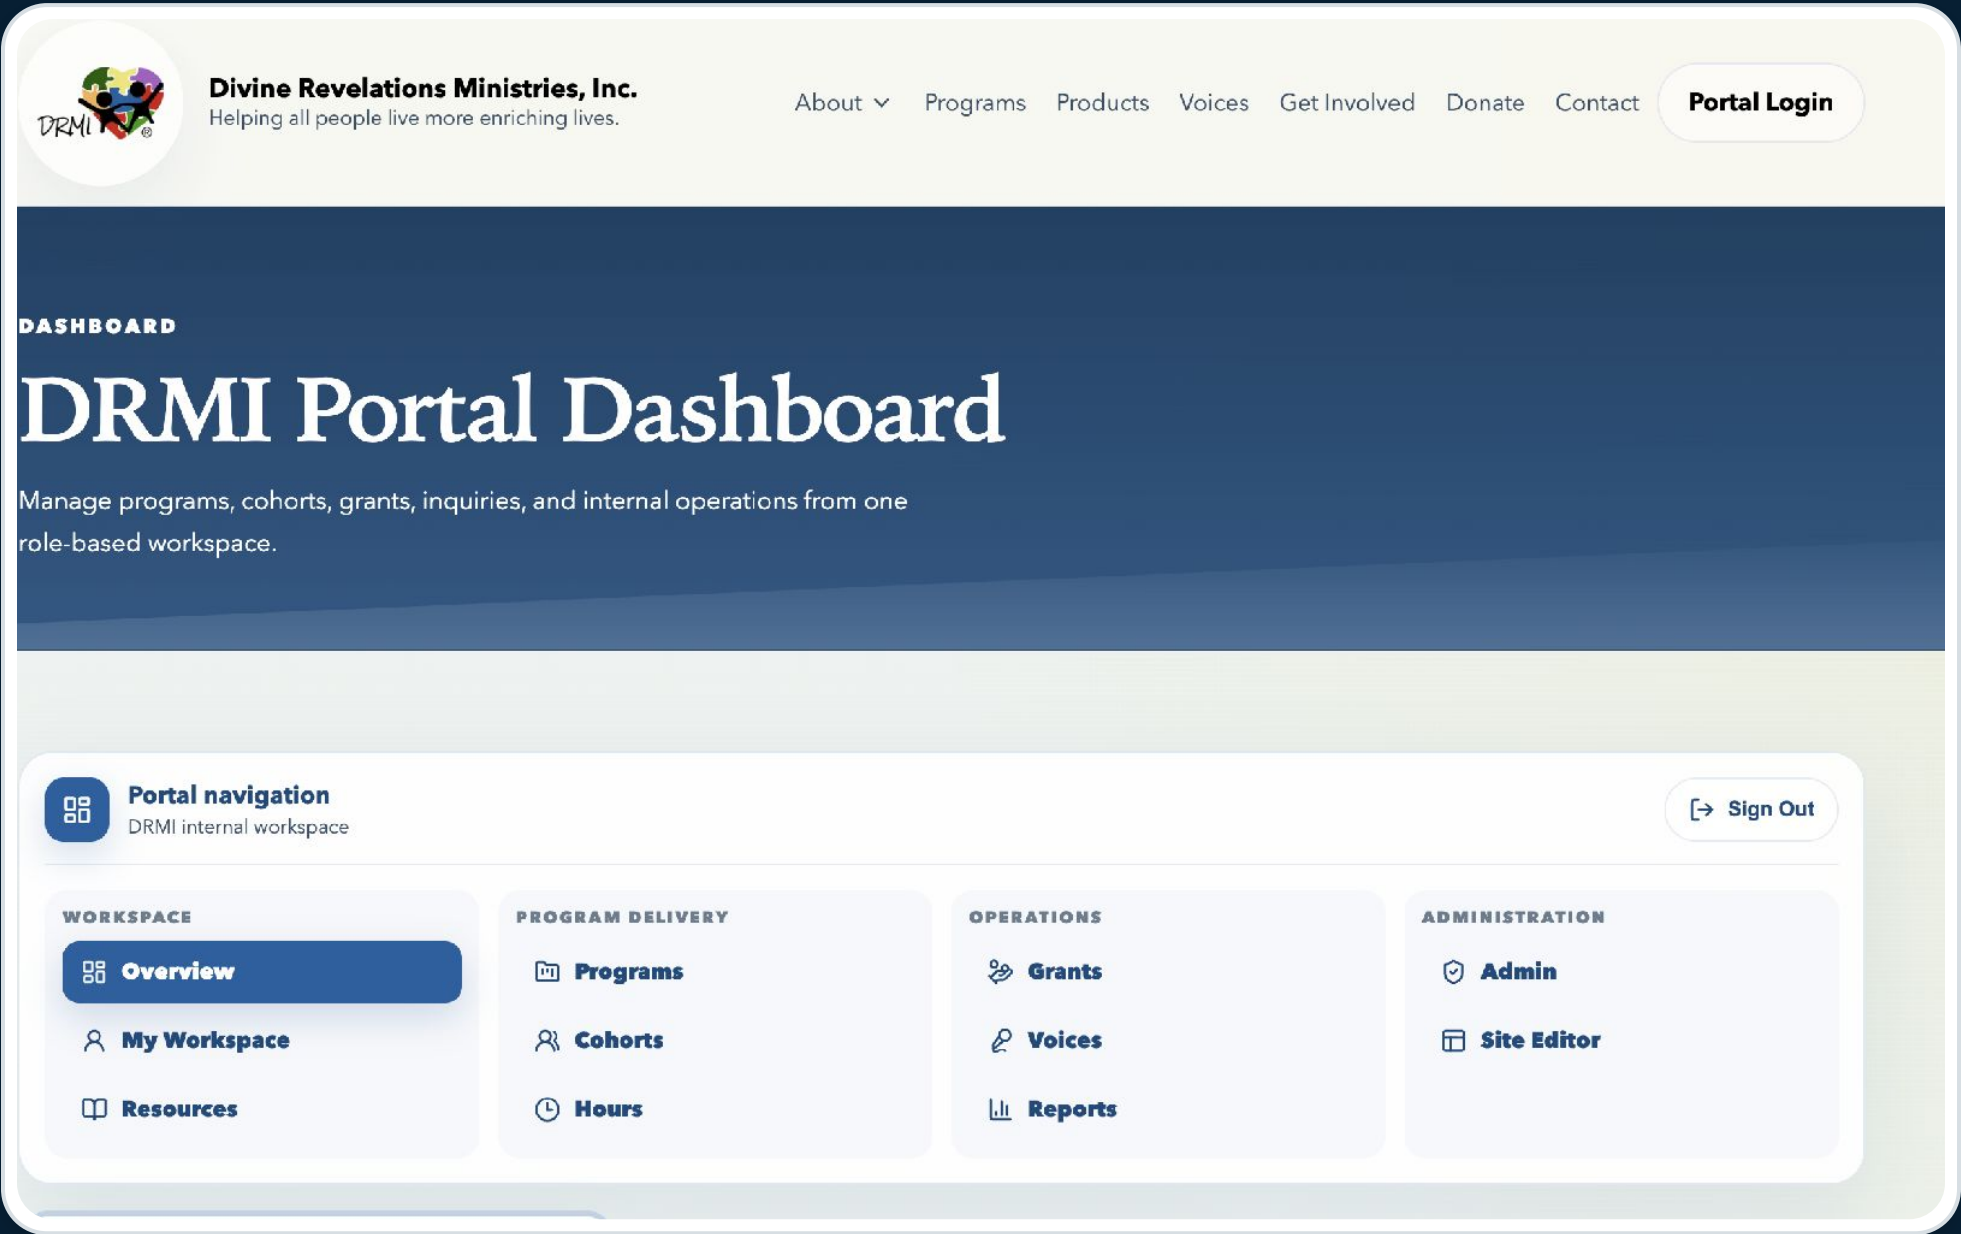

Mobile-first navigation, stronger pathways, and a public experience the DRMI team can keep current.

- Programs & impact
- Partners & supporters
- Referrals & inquiries
- Donations & curriculum
- Mobile-first navigation
- Self-service updates

The real transformation is behind the login.

A protected, role-aware workspace built around DRMI’s actual operations.

- Inquiries
- Attendance & progress
- Hours & approvals
- Role-based access
- Programs & cohorts
- Grants & tasks
- Resources & reporting

A physical landmark connected to a living digital archive

An intergenerational oral-history initiative made possible through a 2026 AARP Community Challenge Grant.

 Helping all people live more enriching lives.

GECKS & GRAMPS ORAL HISTORY PROJECT

Voices of Frenchtown

Every voice tells a story. Every story preserves a legacy.

Made possible through a 2026 AARP Community Challenge Grant, DRMI's Geeks & Gramps project brings generations together to preserve and share the rich history of Tallahassee's historic Frenchtown neighborhood.

Explore the Project

Share Your Story

 Bench QR

THE EXPERIENCE

Stories from longtime residents, descendants, and community members.

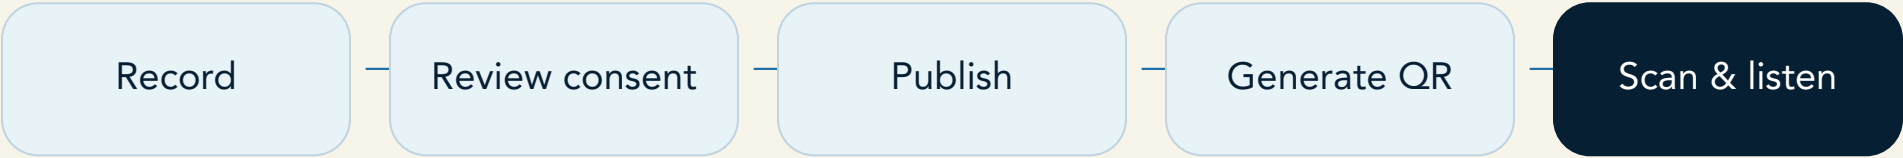

A public historical bench at Carter Howell Strong Park will connect visitors to DRMI-hosted audio stories, photos, and digital content that honor Frenchtown's people, places, traditions, and memories.

Planned public unveiling: October 17, 2026 at Carter Howell Strong Park, 623 W. Georgia Street, Tallahassee.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

Welcome to a living

FRENCHTOWN HISTORIANS WANTED

Planned public unveiling: October 17, 2026

One platform. Four connected layers.

Custom-built around DRMI—not forced into a generic template.

01	Public website	Mission, programs, impact, partners, giving, referrals, and curriculum
02	Content management	Substantial public-site content the DRMI team can update directly
03	Secure operations portal	Inquiries, cohorts, attendance, progress, hours, grants, resources, and reports
04	Community storytelling infrastructure	Private audio, consent and review states, story pages, and QR downloads

Nonprofits deserve more than a prettier template.

AI-era product development is making purpose-built software accessible to organizations doing essential work.

EXPLORE DRMI'S PLATFORM

drmius.com

Build what your mission needs next → www.alch3my.ai